

The Class of 1976

presents

SAGITTA

Suffield, Connecticut

THE CLOCK

8:00 Freshmen, sleepy-eyed,
Behind the books we tried to hide
And heard the distant
Tick-tock clock,
And heard the distant
Tick-tock clock.

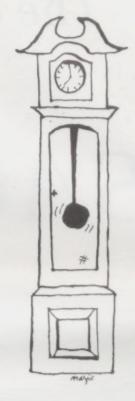

10:00 Sophomores, rallies and rings
Pushed us ahead to better things
To the rhythm of the nearing
Tick-tock clock,
To the rhythm of the nearing
Tick-tock clock.

12:00 Juniors, through the day
We owned the halls; we knew the way,
And louder heard the
Tick-tock clock,
And louder heard the
Tick-tock clock.

2:05 Seniors, and growing still
We leave our books on window sills
To set the hands of the
Tick-tock clock,
To set the hands of the
Tick-tock clock.

Darlene Petillo

Yes! in the sea of life enisled,

With echoing straits between us thrown,

Dotting the shoreless watery wild,

We mortal millions live ALONE.

The islands feel the enclasping flow,

And then their endless bounds they know.

But when the moon their hollows lights,

And they are swept by balms of spring,

And in their glens, on starry nights,

The nightingales divinely sing:

And lovely notes, from shore to shore,

Across the sounds and channels pour -

Oh! then a longing like despair
Is to their farthest caverns
sent;
For surely once, they feel,
we were
Parts of a single continent!
Now round us spreads the watery plain Oh might our marges meet again!

Who ordered, that their longing's fire
Should be, as soon as kindled, cooled?
Who renders vain their deep desire? A God, a God their severance ruled!
And bade betwixt their shores to be
The unplumbed, salt, estranging sea.

Matthew Arnold

DEDICATI O N

The Bicentennial

It is our privilege to celebrate what America has stood for, what it is, and what it will become.

HERITAGE

"If to be venerated for benevolence, if to be admired for talents, if to be esteemed for patriotism, if to be beloved for philanthrophy, can gratify the human mind, you must have the pleasing consolation to know that you have not lived in vain."

George Washington

FESTIVALS

To look back, and still see by the dawn's early light what so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming . . .

FUTURE

Then we, too, can have the courage to face tomorrow, for we have not yet begun to fight.

Jime is ...

Joo slow for those who wait;
Joo swift for those who fear;

Joo long for those who grieve;

yet we were what we were, And, fashioned so, It pleases us to stare

Joo short for those who rejoice.

But for those who love...

Jime is not.

At the far show of unbelievable years and shapes that flit, In our own likeness, on the edge of it.

Lives of great men all remind us

We can make our lives sublime,

And, departing, leave behind us

Footprints on the sands of time.

Let us, then, be up and doing, Jruth a heart for any fate, Still achieving, still pursuing, Learn to Labor and to wait.

All that is gold does not glitter

Not all those who wander are lost

There are some things which cannot be learned quickly, and time, which is all we have, must be paid heavily for their acquiring. # CLASS

With a turn of the hour glass, we took our first step as freshmen. Our footsteps were light and we stopped for a moment to watch the sand covering our tracks. We then put on our class jackets and walked on to our first Pep Rally. The events were few and it was fun, but we found that one quarter of the sand had fallen and it was time to move on.

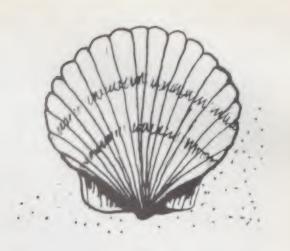

The steady flow of the sand told us that there was no time to waste. We quickly started on the biggest project of the year - the ordering of the class rings. While waiting for the rings, we thought that there was ample time left in the hour glass to hold a few car washes and raise a little extra money - and we did. However, the sand was moving faster than we thought, for we saw that one half of the sand had fallen and it was now time for us to start moving a little faster.

HISTORY

With the falling of each grain of sand, time became increasingly precious to us. So, with our candy boxes in our hands, we continued on our journey. Along the way we came upon such happenings as car washes, Jacob's Reunion concerts, and, to complete the list, the Junior Prom. It was true that ''We May Never Pass This Way Again,'' so we had to look toward the future, for only a quarter of the sand remained in the hourglass and we still had a long road ahead of us.

With the sand moving faster than ever now, we immediately embarked on the last part of our journey at S.H.S. Using some of our cleverest sales pitches, we made it through the magazine sale and moved quickly onward. Passing by the many rehearsals for the Class Play and the preparation for the Sno-Ball, we looked excitedly forward to graduation, for graduation marks not only the turning of the hourglass, but the beginning of our futures.

We did not want this good-bye to be flowers

or . . . a multitude of moaning violins.

Shakespeare,

Emerson,

Thoreau

or

But then, how would they know, they've never been here. So instead, we will just say Good-Bye.
